FABRE LINE

TO THE MEDITERRANEAN

HORTA, ANGRA, PONTA DELGADA,
LISBON, BARCELONA, ALGIERS,
NAPLES, VILLEFRANCHE, MARSEILLES

A CRUISE along the Mediterranean—the sun-kissed azure sea—in a safe, comfortable, luxurious vessel! Can one picture a greater delight, a more glorious prospect? A trip to Europe, attractive in itself is made doubly enjoyable by following the ever verdant, laughing shores of Spain and of the Mediterranean Sea.

The Fabre Line is particularly well equipped to take you over this route, and to offer you a glorious passage amid the most favorable conditions. Its steamers are built expressly with a view to this service and embody all the comforts and appliances suggested by a long experience in this field. The fleet of boats, all of them built since 1902, is staunch, seaworthy, steady and fast, and is a delight to the traveler. The service is first-class throughout. All of the cabins are amidships, located so as to minimize the noise of the machinery or the vibration of the screws. This results in fewer cabins than vessels of this size usually contain and prevents discomfort and over-crowding. The dining saloons and decks are spacious and ample for the number of passengers accommodated.

The table is excellent, the discipline perfect and the service thoroughly efficient. Passengers who have made the trip with us speak of the experience as one to be long remembered for its home-like congeniality and the spirit of enjoyment which pervades. It is like a delightful cruise in a private yacht, and at a very moderate cost.

The Fabre Line attributes its great success solely to the recommendations and good will of its patrons who advertise the merits of the line to their friends. No effort is spared to increase the enjoyment of the travellers. In point of comforts, our boats vie with the more expensive vessels of other lines. In point of congeniality they cannot be surpassed.

The route traversed by the Fabre Line also adds to the unique enjoyment of the trip.

The Lisbon Service route is particularly interesting. After leaving New York or Providence, the quaint and picturesque Azores are first visited. This makes a pleasant break in the trip and is instructive as well. Portugal, Spain and France are touched at and at each place sufficient time is given the passengers to see the most interesting sights. You may have been to Europe a score of times over the northerly route, and never realize the beauty and grandeur of the trip as we map it out for you.

Try the Fabre Line when you go abroad and join the army of enthusiastic travellers that sing our praises.
